WHO
wants to work
politically critical as a photographer / film maker / translator / web page assistant

Are you interested in a critical reflection of politics?

Do you like to get a deeper insight into political topics?

You are looking for ways to make use of your talents in an interesting political commitment?

ethecon - Foundation for Ethics & Economy is a young grassroots foundation dedicated to the principle of solidarity in life and economy.

This aim requires long-term thinking and resilience. To achieve the necessary changes, comprehensive social movements must be developed, and fragmented powers must be united.

We invite you to support us in this endeavour. Whether you like to translate informative texts, correct and edit them, or want to help us with our internet presence, we would like to welcome you in our team.

A different world, a world of fairness and sustainability, can only be achieved if we develop and implement models of society which are based on ecological balance and human dignity, rather than serving the profit-oriented principles of the kind of economy which dominates the world today. To bring about this basic change, social movements need to reflect the workings of globalization and multi-national companies between the two poles of economy and ethics. To sustain the world around us and a society which is worth living in, ethical principles must prevail over a purely profit-oriented economy. Saving our planet will only be possible by making ethical principles an integral and central part of a new kind of economy.
